Much Local Money In Government Securities

"Nearly $15,000 will be returned to the people of Mt. Sterling within five years," stated Postmaster Turner today. This amount, he announced, represents the principal and interest of the money invested in treasury savings certificates at the local post office during the first three months of this year.

Although the newspapers have given wide publicity to the "get-rich-quick" schemes of "Fonsi of Boston" and "Bischoff of Chicago," there are many people in every community who do not know the difference between good and bad investments; are not aware of the fact that their own government is issuing a form of security absolutely guaranteed at all times as to value and free from all local and state taxes, which increase 25 per cent within a period of five years; secure from loss by any contingency whatsoever.

Postmaster Turner can furnish any desired amount of treasury savings certificates in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, and will gladly give any desired information with respect thereto.

TO OUR PATRONS

On Saturday we did the biggest business in the history of our career, our store being crowded almost the entire day. A great many of our patrons left before they could be waited upon and for this we are extremely sorry. We might have added inexperienced help to our force of salesmen, but we wouldn't do this as footwear is something that requires careful fitting and inexperienced help in this line is very unsatisfactory. We are offering the suggestion that our town friends make their purchases earlier in the week as this will enable us to give much better service than on Saturday when we have the rush of country trade.—R. E. Punch Co.

Mary Chiles Hospital

Mrs. Mary McClure Hynson was admitted to the hospital Friday for treatment.

Miss Ada Henry, who underwent an operation Friday night, is doing well.

Carl Fallen was transferred to a government hospital Monday.

Mrs. Lela Tharp returned to her home Sunday.

Dr. J. F. Lockhart after a long serious illness is rapidly recovering.

All other patients are improving.

Miss Kate Watts arrived Sunday from Mississippi to take up her duties as one of the nursing staff.

CARD OF THANKS

As it will be impossible for me to personally thank all of my friends who so generously gave of their means in the recent Jewish Relief drive, I am taking this means of expressing to them my very deepest gratitude. Montgomery county's quota was $1,200, and, as usual, she went "over the top." Again thanking you, S. M. Very truly yours.—S. M. Newmeyer, chairman Montgomery county, Jewish Relief Drive.

Sometimes it is better to forget than to remember.

MARRIES IN WASHINGTON

Miss Fannie Clark, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Clark, was married to O. L. Rice at the First Christian church, Washington, last Wednesday. Miss Clark, who was a former teacher in Montgomery and Clark counties, is an accomplished and fine business woman and has been holding the position of supervisor in a government office for three years. Mr. Rice, who is a native of Charlottesville, Va., is an architect by profession and is engaged in work in Washington. After a trip to the Bermuda Islands the couple will reside in Chevy Chase, Washington, where the groom has an elegant home awaiting his bride.

High School Defeats Paris

The local High School baseball team defeated the Paris High School at the fair grounds park last Friday afternoon by the one-sided score of 18 to 8. The pitching of the game was the pitching of "Smiley" Davis, who during the time he was on the mound, which was a majority of the game, only allowed four scores, and with proper support would have been credited with a shut-out. With more practice and team work it is thought the local school will have one of the best teams in the state as they have plenty of good material. A good sized crowd was present to encourage the boys on to victory.

EXCLUSIVE MILLINERY MODES
Every shape and line, every texture and color has been created and applied, not for the hat itself, but to conjure becomingness and beauty for the head of the wearer. Today, as always, the supreme charm and fitness of the millinery comes from the tasteful and accurate selection of the hat for the head it is to adorn. The glorious hats are here; so also is the art and skill to grace each head with its most appropriate hat. They come in periwinkle, citron, black and white and all the new shades.

Hedden, Sr., went to Maysville Sunday afternoon to attend a mass meeting of the Bracken Association of Baptists which was addressed by Dr. C. M. Thompson, corresponding secretary of Baptist State Missions. Returning the Mt. Sterling representatives stopped over at Mayslick, where Rev. Hamilton preached to a very attentive audience. The trip was made by automobile. The party attended two gatherings, and returning made a distance of 123 miles.

Produce Review

More favorable weather and better road conditions are bringing more eggs to the market although receipts are still below what is known as flush production.

Cost of eggs in producing sections have been higher, proportionately than selling values in consuming sections centering, indicating that consumers have definite ideas of values at which they are willing to use eggs freely.

There is a decrease in the marketing of live poultry, which an easy tendency in the markets for dressed poultry.

Production of butter is showing an increase, with definite lower values during the past few days.

Miss Marjorie Barnes To Wed C. S. Decker

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barnes, of the Ruffner hotel, yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Fairfield, to Charles Smith Decker, of New York. The announcement was first made in New York on last Sunday night at the home in the Athorp apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, grandparents of Mr. Decker. On this occasion Mrs. Barnes and her daughter were the guests of honor. Formal announcement of the wedding is being made in the New York papers of today coincident with the announcement in Charleston. No date has been set for the wedding, but it will probably be late in this month.

Miss Barnes is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barnes, of Charleston. Her mother was Miss Ross Hudson, a popular and beautiful girl of St. Albans of twenty-five years ago, and known to many Charleston people for a generation. The bride-to-be is highly educated, is a really beautiful girl and one of the most popular members of the social set in Charleston. She is widely known in West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky.

Mr. Decker is a stock broker and for a time lived in Charleston, where he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dana, in Kanawha street.

He was graduated from Princeton at the age of 20 and served in the world war. He was well and favorably known during his residence here, where he was connected with the brokerage house of Hardy, Dana and company.—Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette, April 7.

The above clipping will be of great interest to friends in Mt. Sterling, where Miss Barnes is exceedingly popular. The young bride-elect is a niece of Mrs. A. H. Judy and T. K. Barnes and is a great favorite in social circles here, where she has frequently visited.

That old suit can be made to look like new. Let us do it.—Barnes & Cox, telephone 343. (51-2t)

MRS. ALEXANDER DEAD

Holt.

Dr. Roger L. Spratt, of this city, has been re-elected treasurer of the Kentucky Dental Association, which is in session this week at Louisville.

GOD'S BUSINESS FIRST

John R. McLean, who owned the Cincinnati Enquirer, was as famous in his day as a publisher as Bennett, or Dana, or Greeley.

An Enquirer reporter was once sent to a town in Ohio to get the story of a woman evangelist, who had been greatly talked about. The reporter attended one of her meetings and occupied a front seat. When those who wished to be saved were asked to arise, he kept his seat and used his notebook. The evangelist approached, and gave him a special invitation.

"Madam," said the newspaper man, "I'm here solely on business—to report your work."

"Brother," said she, "there is no business so important as God's."

"Well, may be not," said the reporter, "but you don't know John R. McLean."

A CARD

Editor of The Advocate: While I appreciate the mark of esteem and regard in your editorial of April 6, yet I am in no sense a candidate for any office now or at any future time. It is a pleasure, to know that a very large majority of my constituency endorsed my position on certain questions that came before the recent legislature. I, as your representative, was not afraid to refer those questions to the people for final decision, and I voted accordingly.

Daily Workouts

At Locl Ball Park

A number of applicants for places on the local team in the Blue Grass League have been here for the past few days and are being given tryouts at the local park by Manager Ellis.

However, to date, not much class has been shown and the local team is badly in need of first-class timber, and is eager to secure players of real merit who are anxious to go higher. With the opening only ten days off, the management would be glad to get in touch with any players who would like to have a chance at once.

WHERE ADVERTISING IS PROPERLY FORBIDDEN

The Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture has done well to prohibit painting of advertisements on the rocks of the seventeen national forests of California, and to order stopped the erection of advertisements on trees. Besides being unsightly such advertisements are useless, nay, worse than useless; they create resentment instead of interest. The bill board is at best an appeal to the primitive mind; certainly it should not be permitted to destroy the beauty of the country.

If the department have stopped the advertising of outside products within the forests will now begin to advertise the forests and national parks where they should be advertised. In the newspapers, Washington will take a step forward in modern business conduct that indicates an intelligence sadly lacking up to date, Mr. Lasker to the contrary notwithstanding.

TAX AUDITORS ATTEND SCHOOL

Uncle Sam conducts a school at Washington in which he trains auditors and inspectors for the express purpose of checking up our income tax returns.

Each month a new class of 125 "goes to school." They must first pass certain civil service requirements of bookkeeping knowledge and experience.

In the school they receive six weeks' intensive training in the technicalities of the income tax law, by means of lectures and individual instruction by experts. They are paid full salary while under instruction.

The Civil Service Commission has announced that it will hold an examination on May 3 throughout the United States to test the qualifications of applicants for positions of auditor and inspector under the income tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue. The entrance salaries offered range from $1,800 to $3,000.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the civil service board at the postoffice or custom house in any city.

MANY GROWERS SIGN CONTRACT

Within the past month 842 new contracts, representing 1,804 acres or about 2,000,000 pounds of tobacco, have been received at the offices of the Field Service Division of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, Assistant Chief William Collins said Friday.

These contracts come from practically every county in the Burley district in Kentucky and from counties in Ohio and West Virginia and Indiana, as well.

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker announced Friday the taking over of three warehouses of the Kirkpatrick interests at Huntington, W. Va., thus providing delivery plants for those West Virginia growers who have signed the Association contract. The other nine houses controlled by M. L. Kirkpatrick, of Cincinnati, already have been transferred to the Association.

Tobacco belonging to members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association will be delivered to the warehouses by April 14, Director Barker said Friday. The Lexington warehouse manager, Robert E. Beatty, announces that the Fayette No. 1 warehouse will be open Thursday and Friday, April 13 and 14, for the delivery of tobacco which growers may desire to bring to Lexington, and the officials of the association hope that every member grower will have delivered his crop by April 14, next Friday.

Secretary H. L. Early and his office staff are at work on the second distribution of funds to the growers, but because of the volume of book-keeping involved in the distribution, Secretary Early said he could not definitely fix the time of the distribution. He said growers could depend on it that the second distribution would be made at the earliest possible moment.

Virgil Chapman, assistant general counsel of the burley association, spoke before the Agricultural Society of the College of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky on the provisions of the Bingham co-operative marketing act and its relation to other lines of agriculture than tobacco.

co and explained something of the marketing system and of the workings of the burley association in handling the tobacco of its members.

Director of Warehouses Barker spoke at Carrollton Saturday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Carroll County Farm Bureau. Other speakers were Dr. S. H. Halley, manager of storage; William C. McDowell, manager of re-driers; John L. Buckley, assistant director of warehouses, and Robert E. Beatty, warehouse manager for Lexington.

The executive committee was in session at the general offices, 620 South Broadway, Thursday, but President Stone said that nothing of general interest was done by that body. The members were all present except Judge Robert W. Bingham, who was not able to attend. Besides President Stone those in attendance were Hon. James N. Kehoe, of Mayfield; Bush W. Allin, of Harrodsburg, and John B. Winn, of Versailles.

Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan

It is the Safe and Reliable Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years.

There are "new styles" even in medicines. A new, "fad," comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron-tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

This wireless business has set the world to wondering if, after all, the judgment day may not be more embarrassing than any one may think. Imagine what will happen if all the conversation of the world now stored in the air is tabulated, checked up and made a matter of public record. Oh, boy! Waves of force once started never cease. Even the whisper in the secret closet makes an imprint lasting perhaps into eternity. In short we have just learned we cannot keep a conversation really secret, though we may do so for a little time. Perhaps the waves of thought are recorded, too. It may be best to watch our step and talk right and think right, after all. The writing already is on the wall for the slanderer and the mental crook.

LAUGH

Build for yourself a strong box, Fashion each part with care; Fit it with hasp and padlock, Put all your troubles there. Hide therein all your failures, And each bitter cup you quaff, Lock all your heartaches within it, Then sit on the lid and laugh.

Tell no one of its contents; Never its secret share, Drop in your cares and worries, Keep them forever there. Hide them from sight so completely, The world will never dream half, Fasten the top down securely, Then sit on the lid and laugh.

Tanlac builds up the weak, rundown system and makes you feel strong, sturdy and well, as nature intended.—Land & Priest.

90 PER CENT OF CHICKS RAISED ON STATION FARM

Prevention of chick diseases along with recommended methods of feeding and management make it possible to raise 90 out of every 100 chicks that are hatched on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm, it is said. On some farms in the state, not more than one-half the chicks that hatch are raised, while in several cases the loss of all chicks has been reported, the station poultrymen say. A large percentage of the heaviest losses is due to some of the common chick ailments which could have been prevented, according to J. R. Smith, extension poultryman.

"The most common of these is the white diarrhea, which is found in two forms. Bacillary white diarrhea, which is contagious and is transmitted from hen to chick through the eggs, is not common in Kentucky. Most cases of this disease found in the state are the common diarrhea caused by chilling, overheating, overfeeding the chicks, feeding them too soon or by overfeeding them. Buttermilk or sour milk will aid in curing and controlling this trouble.

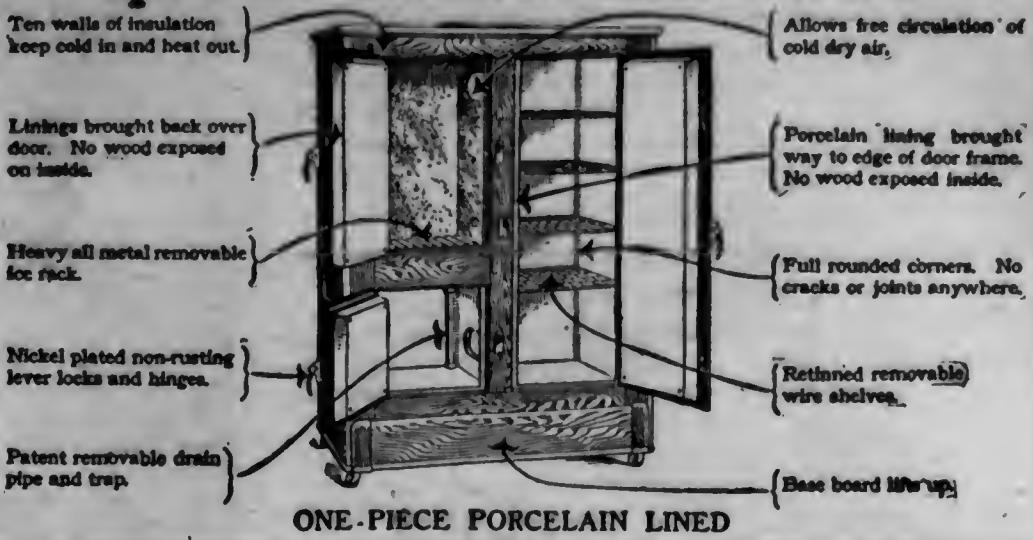

"Gapes also is responsible for many chick losses, this trouble being caused by gape worms getting in the windpipe. These worms live in the ground and come up on the grass blades when the dew is on them. Putting the chicks on ground where chicks have never been raised before and plowing up the old runs and seedling them with a crop is a preventative measure for this trouble. If this cannot be done, it will help to keep the chicks off the grass in the morning until the dew is gone. Three drops of creolin added to each pint of the chick's drinking water also is helpful.

"A few cases of leg weakness have been reported from various parts of the state this year. Feeding milk or a ration containing bone meal helps to control this trouble. Getting the chicks out on the ground as soon as possible is an important point in controlling leg weakness. If the weather is unfavorable, a piece of sod turned bottom side up may be placed in the house. Feeding the grain in a litter to induce exercise also is an important point."

CO-OPERATIVE SELLING BOOM BRINGS OUT DANGER SIGNALS

Co-operative marketing is experiencing such a rapid growth in many states at the present time that failure may result in some instances if certain principles of successful organization are overlooked, marketing specialists at the College of Agriculture are pointing out. There must be a real need for the co-operative marketing association before it is formed after which its success will depend upon the organization and the business methods followed, they say.

"Sufficient business must be obtained so that the association may effect economies in the handling of products," D. G. Card, one of the specialists said. "This volume of business is now commonly insured through written contracts in which the producer agrees to deliver his products to the association.

"Adequate capital for the transaction of business is necessary. This usually is furnished by a membership fee, by the sale of capital stock or by securing loans from banks or private individuals.

"Effective organization is the third chief requirement. The organization should be one which will hold its members together, command attention in the trade and bring about desired results.

"Capable and efficient management is one of the important points to be considered. The business manager should be selected for his business ability, his knowledge of the enterprise and his belief in co-operative effort as well as for his honesty.

"Good business methods are essential if the association is to succeed. The organization will be competing with private business enterprises and unless it can effect greater savings or perform its services as well or better than the privately owned firms, it has no place in the marketing system.

"A loyal membership will give the association its patronage is another requisite for success. A co-operative marketing association is organized for the benefit of its members and the greater will be the benefits."

"An architect is the man who draws the plans in which the practical construction boss finds the mistakes."

Why the $10<sup>90</sup> USCO is better than just a $10<sup>90</sup> tire

In November 10, 1921, the 30 x 3½ "Usco"
was marked to sell for $10.90.

This odd and closely figured price was the lowest quotation ever made on any tire of known standards.

A genuine pioneering step by the makers of U. S. Tires.

Now comes a lot of different $10.90 tires being rushed into the market. "Special" tires.
"New" treads.

Unfamiliar to look at—with perhaps an atmosphere of having been made to meet the price.

But the "Usco" still occupies a place by itself. A good old standby on millions of cars for years. Better than it ever was.

Still putting the emphasis on honest quality, even if it does sell for only ten dollars and ninety cents.

The $10.90 tire with the record of a proven product.

The tire that people still buy for the digni-tude of its quality regardless of the low amount they pay.

LET US HAVE YOUR OPINIONS

Just now the question is, "Where will the new hotel be built?" An expression from the people would be interesting and profitable as well. Many points are being suggested and many persons owning these locations have given options.

Among the places suggested we will mention a few and we are asking our citizens, both men and women, to drop us a card giving views as to the location that appeals most to them. It is important to secure the location that can be made to yield not only the greatest dividends, but one that will best advertise the city. Shall it be either of these or is there another location with greater advantages? Of those in mind we mention the Hall property, Maysville and Locust streets; the Ed Rees property, fronting on Maysville and Locust streets; the McKee-Chiles, etc., lot, corner of Bank and Locust streets; the Tharp boarding house, on West Main street; the property on East Main street extending from the Trimble Grocery warehouse to the Standard Oil Company's station; the Beaumont hotel property, including two stores on the west of the building; the National hotel property on North Maysville street; the Tyler Apperson stone building and the Apperson business house, all opposite the court house; the C. G. Thompson property, corner of North Maysville and High streets; the Episcopal church property; the Apperson building and Fifer block, Broadway, the properties beginning with the Montgomery National Bank building on Main street and Broadway and going west, including the office occupied by H. G. Hoffman.

We want the views of our citizens, men, women and children, relative to the location of the modern hotel soon to be constructed. It shall be our pleasure to publish, free of charge, the opinions of the public as to where the hotel should be located. We have our opinion, but will withhold it until we have heard from others.

EVERYBODY HOPEFUL

There are no clouds to conceal optimistic business views. The money that has been in hiding because many could see only hard times ahead can be brought out and put to business in debt-paying duties. Tobacco returns have been good, corn is bringing a fair price, the coming values on wheat and other small grains are hopeful, factories are running full time, merchants are buying liberally, all kinds of livestock are bringing good prices and the good old days have already appeared above the horizon. "Oh, boy!"

HAVE YOU A HOTEL LOCATION?

The committee to present proposed new hotel sites to the stockholders of the new hotel would be thankful for any suggestions and arguments for and against locations. This is a time to speak and remember this hotel is not for a few.

MAKE PRINTER YOUR FRIEND

How about that important job of printing? Are you always in a hurry for it? Do you get sore if it isn't delivered in two or three days?

The sheets when printed are taken from the press and laid on tables to dry. Since the printer has little control over the speed with which ink will dry, he often has to possess his soul in patience while customers fume at what they consider his delay, when as a matter of fact, atmospheric conditions may be entirely responsible.

Give the printer all the time on the work you possibly can. If you have a job that you do not need for six days, don't tell him you must have it tomorrow. Let him have plenty of time to make a good job of it by daylight.

Remember that haste makes waste. This is probably truer in a print shop than anywhere else.

When you get proofs of your job, read, correct, and then send them back to the printer as quickly as possible. When you see the proofs, the job is only partly done; so get them back to the shop in order that the shop may get on with your work.

Ligible copy well arranged makes for speed without sacrificing good work. If your copy has to be rewritten in the print shop, the chance of error is multiplied, and the additional time consumed.

Make your printer your friend. He has valuable suggestions; make use of them. Printing is a highly individualized art. Do your part to help the printer obtain a full grasp of just exactly what you want. Co-operation breeds co-operation; make the most of it.

Above all don't depend on cheap printing to create a good impression. It can't do it. Cheap work is always cheap work, and it speaks for itself.

Good printing only is a proper representative for a proper people. The good business man would never think of sending out a salesman of uncouth speech, shabbily dressed, with soiled linen. Yet that same man will often buy cheap printing because he does not realize that printing is his personal representative.

What letters in this morning's mail, appealed to you most? Those "shabby salesmen" from indifferent people, or those neat "Twentieth Century Representatives" that just radiate attractiveness, confidence, and efficiency? The clean-cut, well printed and well written letters, or the slovenly ones? The personal representatives of writers who cared about their silent salesmen or those who were careless?

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922
When we are young our ambition is fired with the desire to create something, and then as we grow older we see that mankind can't create anything. Often, when it is too late, we learn the lesson—that our time should have been spent in recognizing the things that are created for us rather than trying to create new things and try to steal the job of the divinity. There has been a correct answer to every problem in arithmetic even before we knew anything about arithmetic, and so there is a solution to every problem in life that confronts us. All we have to do is to find the way. There is no path so thorny but there is a primrose by-way that will lead us to happiness if we only see it. It's there. We don't have to make it. All we need is to recognize it.

We are all equal—when we are asleep.

COOLIDGE SILENT ON NEWBERRY

Although Vice President Coolidge repeated many of the exploded claims of economy by spokesmen of the Harding administration in his Brooklyn speech, he was painfully silent on one of the most notable achievements of the present administration—the seating of Senator Truman H. Newberry in a purchased seat. Nor did the vice president refer to the fact that during the long drawn-out and bitter controversy over the Newberry case he remained silent. Although the presiding officer of the senate, neither by word nor act did he attempt to keep the senate uncontaminated and unsullied by opposing Senator Newberry. His silence naturally created remarks at the capital, and doubtless at home, because Mr. Coolidge entered politics as a reformer and a purifying agent. Still, a public official who can see "an almost incredible achievement in economy" through the constant increase of the ordinary expenses of government ought to be able to construe the seating of Newberry as a triumph for the force of civic purity and righteousness.

WORLD CRYING FOR A MOSES

The withdrawal of 600,000 workers from the coal mines of America for a week means that the public must pay the bill. The operators, of course, profess a great concern, but as a fact they are flipping a coin in the game of "Heads I win, tails you lose." The public may suffer from cold if the shortage be excessive, but operators will have coal to heat their sumptuous offices and their luxurious homes. If the shortage be acute then the people will pay through the nose in trifled prices, and the operators will reap the reward in that way. As for the men, they will suffer from lack of work and it will take time for them to get back to their established status even though they do win some things in their favor. The issues of the strike do not appear to be clearly defined. There are always two sides to a story. The pitiable condition is the purity of the government in its confessed failure to cope with the situation.

Eventually the strike must be settled and the men go back to work, and the trouble must be settled by agreement reached between the contending forces. It is a sad reflection on the intelligence of the American people that it is always necessary to go through the fire and beat the public into suffering before understanding can be established. The condition is deplorable. What is the matter when this nation leads the world in discovery and invention, yet lags so far behind it in an effort to solve the problem of capital and labor. Perhaps the secret lies in the fact that the intellectual giants for the most part lie on the side of the capitalists. If they're not capitalists themselves, then they are controlled by the capitalists. This problem and the problem of food distribution are the two great difficulties that seem to confound humanity. The people are crying aloud for a Moses to lead them to the promised land of common sense. If some way can be found to concretely express the public will, there will come an end to this game of battledore and shuttlecock in Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Mt. Sterling women. Read what Mrs. Anne Collier, 40 W. Locust St., Mt. Sterling, says: "Four years ago I had a bad spell with my kidneys. They were weak and unnatural and my bladder was painful. My back ached night and day and I could hardly get about to do my housework. My eyes would get puffy underneath and I had a roaring in my ears. In fact, I was generally rundown, until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills from Duerson's Drug Store. This remedy reached my case at once and cured me of the complaint."

SAFEGUARDS FROM LIGHTNING

With America's greatest electrical wizard announcing the artificial production of lightning, it is but a step to the control of this destructive element and the turning of it to some useful purpose. As a fact, there are practical methods, practices and appliances for protecting buildings against lightning, but they have made little headway because of the suspicion implanted in the minds of the people as a result of the "lightning rod" campaigns of twenty years ago. At that time every fakir in the land was selling lightning rods to farmers and other folks in the country towns, their unscrupulous methods not being unearthed until they had covered the country and even cheated and deceived a great number of persons in the cities. The lightning rod outfit mad vast fortunes and the farmers were left holding the bag. Comfortable in their feeling of security, the barns of the farmers burned down just the same and the resulting condition of the farmer's mind was more harmful than the loss of the money.

Unfortunately the government did not lock the stable door until the horse was gone, but nevertheless forward strides can now be announced. To put the official mark of approval on lightning protection methods, the Bureau of Standards, the Weather Bureau and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers had a joint committee prepare a code and many firmly established principles for lightning protection have been established. Indications are that before long there will be developed practical appliances that will make farm buildings and others safer, if not entirely safe. The committee might wisely invite the creator of artificial lightning to suggest means of controlling the force he is now able to employ. The farm losses by lightning are very heavy, though fortunately the loss of life is not very heavy. Also let it be hoped that when appliances are approved they will not provide another vehicle for the financial exploitation of the public.

My girl, oh, boy! She's so good lookin' that when she enters a street car the advertising is a loss.—Ex.

Farmer Ought To Raise Own Foods

Jo C. VanMeter, well known Fayette county farmer, expressed the opinion Saturday that farmers growing tobacco make a great mistake when they grow tobacco to the exclusion of what is needed in the home and for feeding purposes with a view to buying things out of tobacco money.

"Every farmer," Mr. VanMeter declared, "ought to raise his own grain—wheat and corn—for breadstuffs and enough grain to feed his own hogs and produce his own lard and bacon. He ought also to grow his own potatoes, and raise a good garden to provide green food during the summer."

"I know a farmer, a number of farmers, who buy practically nothing except sugar and coffee and other groceries throughout the year. Their fields, orchards and gardens provide plenty of food, which canned or preserved lasts them and their families from one season's end to another."

"Every farmer should have his flock of chickens, his cow, his hogs. It is easily possible for the average tenant to arrange with his landlord for pasturage and for ground enough to grow corn to fatten his hogs. If all tenant farmers would conduct their business on this basis, instead of devoting so much space and time to tobacco, the results would be vastly better for the farmers."

"A little tobacco planted on good, productive, fertile land will bring more money on the market than twice as much planted on indifferent land, or more than the farmer can properly attend to."

"It is true, the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association's success in forming a big organization will tend to stabilize prices; but if members devote large acreage to tobacco without due regard for the production of those things needed on the farm, or if they produce a lot more tobacco than the legitimate demand can absorb, the result is bound to be lower prices for tobacco. For that reason every farmer should plant this year only what tobacco he can attend to without sacrifice of those other products so essential to the prosperity of every farmer."

"I have talked with farmers from a number of counties within the past few weeks and almost every man tells that the acreage of tobacco to be planted this year will not exceed the acreage, certainly will not be larger than 1920, the acreage on which the organization of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association was based. Every farmer with whom I have discussed the matter has commended President James C. Stone's statement in which members of the burley association were urged to consider quality more than quantity in the production of burley tobacco. If that is done generally, and I hope it will be, the results at marketing time next year will be the reward of those who have heeded the president's wise advice."

"A five-acre tract of tobacco, properly attended to and raised on good ground, will sell for as much as ten or fifteen acres, indifferently tended and planted on ground not fit for tobacco. It takes good ground to grow tobacco, and if farmers confine their planting to fit ground there is little likelihood of over-production this year."

CROP REPORT

The crop reporting board of the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, makes the following estimates from reports of its correspondents and agents:

The average condition of winter wheat on April 1 was 78.4 per cent of a normal, against 91.0 on April 1, 1921, 75.6 on April 1, 1920, and 84.3, the average condition for the past ten years, on April 1. There was an increase in condition from December 1, 1921, to April 1, 1922, of 2.4 points, as compared with an average decline in the past ten years of 4.7 points between these dates. Upon the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and average influences on the crop to harvest, the condition on April 1 forecasts a production of about 572,974,000 bushels, which compares with 587,038,000 bushels, the estimated production in 1921, 610,597,000 in 1920, and 578,875,000 bushels, the average of the preceding five years.

The average condition of rye on April 1 was 89.0 per cent of a normal, against 90.3 on April 1, 1921, 88.8 on April 1, 1920, and 88.5, the average condition for the past ten years on April 1.

The condition of rye April 1 forecasts a production of approximately 69,667,000 bushels; the estimated production in 1921 was 57,918,000 bushels, the 1920 crop 60,490,000, and the average of the preceding five years 66,474,000 bushels.

NEGLECTING LATE LAMBS REDUCES SHEEP PROFITS

A big percentage of the seconds and cull lambs that go to the market from Kentucky each year are late buck lambs, according to R. C. Miller, sheep extension specialist at the College of Agriculture. This condition is apt to result in heavy losses for sheep raisers who neglect to alter their late male lambs before sending them to market this year, he said. In addition to bringing a better price, lambs that are docked and altered are neater and present a more blocky appearance to prospective buyers, it was added. It has been recommended that all late lambs be docked and all males, except purebreds of quality that are kept for breeding purposes, be altered.
